

TOCQUEVILLE SOCIETY

United Way of the Midlands

The Tocqueville Society of United Way of the Midlands was established in 1988 by twelve charter members whose vision and belief in the community spurred others to join and give. Today, the Tocqueville Society has more than 250 members and has notably raised over $84 million since its inception. This investment has led to the delivery of more than 1.9 million vital community services to help those in need across the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro area.

For nearly 95 years, United Way donors have provided critical funding to help our neighbors meet their most basic of needs including access to healthy food, medical care, safe and affordable housing and academic supports, with the ultimate goal of helping families achieve long-term financial stability. The dedicated and passionate leaders of the Tocqueville Society champion this important work, knowing that we all have a stake in the strengthening of our community.

As Tocqueville Society Members, you help set the standard for charitable giving in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro and are at the forefront of creating positive change while tackling our community's toughest issues. Membership is open to individuals and couples who contribute $10,000 or more annually.

By being a part of this remarkable group, you have an opportunity to make a lasting difference that will impact the generations of tomorrow.

Because, UNITED we can make our community even stronger.

Warren Buffett Challenge Grant

Thanks to the Warren Buffett Challenge Grant, if membership in the society grows to 286 members, Mr. Buffett will increase his match to 8% of the qualified campaign dollars raised. When this goal is achieved, an additional amount of approximately $200,000 will be available to invest in our community.
