We feel extremely fortunate to live and work in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro. Why? Because the residents of our community consistently dedicate their time, expertise and financial support to those who need it most.

This philanthropic spirit cannot be found just anywhere. We understand that it is something organizations like United Way of the Midlands must treasure – and also harness. When we unite our efforts toward common goals, we can help thousands of people grow and thrive.

As we reflect on the past year, the truth of this statement becomes even more evident. Thanks to the overwhelming support we received from the community, we were able to invest more than 91 cents out of every donated dollar back into the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro. As a result, more than 140,000 of our most vulnerable neighbors were able to access a network of supports that met their basic needs and lifted them into independence and stability.

These achievements set us apart as one of the top United Ways in the country – ranked 10th for campaign performance and 17th for operational efficiency out of approximately 1,200 United Ways.

As you can conclude from these results and the numerous other successes detailed in this year’s Annual Report, supporters like you have helped us create a stronger, more united community. But as we conclude our two-year investment cycle and begin the next, we know our work isn’t any less urgent. Though our community is in a period of economic growth and prosperity, these successes are not felt by all Omaha-Council Bluffs residents equally, especially in certain neighborhoods where poverty is becoming increasingly concentrated. Local nonprofit programs are working tirelessly to address the needs, but they can’t do it alone. And neither can we.

United Way of the Midlands needs the support of each and every community member if we are to help our partners deliver vital basic needs services and help families achieve financial stability, but we know the residents of the metro are up to the challenge. Last year, we were honored to partner with more than 40,000 donors, 700 companies, 56 agencies and 3,500 volunteers. We are excited to deepen these relationships and establish new ones, because we are confident that great things will happen in the coming year when we work together.

Our schools will be better because more students will be ready to learn. Our neighborhoods will be safer because more residents will make a productive living. The metro area will be healthier because more people will have access to healthy food. And our community will be a brighter, more welcoming place.

Thank you for the critical role you play in our efforts to lift up our most vulnerable neighbors. As we continue on our journey to a stronger community, we are honored that you have chosen to join us as a partner, supporter and friend.

Looking Back

As we reflect back on the past two years at United Way of the Midlands, our hearts are filled with gratitude. It takes special people and a generous town to improve the community we live in. The successes of our first two-year funding cycle prove that you are those kinds of people and the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro is that kind of town – one that invests in the well-being of our most vulnerable neighbors.

When UWM first began our two-year funding cycle in 2016, we were determined to fulfill the vision of our strategic planners led by Ken Stinson. They encouraged us to leverage our unique position in the community to serve as a convener, collaborator and information aggregator. To step into these roles, we examined our community’s most pressing challenges from a broad lens and began to bring the business and nonprofit communities together to address them.

Thanks to the outpouring of support we received from each and every one of you, our efforts led to great success. We partnered with more than 50 nonprofit organizations to advance our 2025 community impact goals in three areas – basic needs, education and financial stability. We were also honored to work with agencies and businesses on a number of collaborative projects, including a long-term plan to reduce food insecurity, a pilot program to meet the needs of 16 to 24-year olds who are disconnected from school or work, and much more. Please see our partners page for more information on these projects and the organizations who made them possible.

Through these partnerships, we made great progress within the community and changed thousands of lives. In fact, due to the efficiency of our partners, we expect to far surpass our 2025 goals in the years ahead.

Your investment in United Way is changing lives for thousands of people in our community. To see a video on how your investment impacts those who need it, visit our Community Stories page.
Thank you to our 2017 Campaign Chairs

We would like to extend our sincere thanks to Steve and Sue Seline for their leadership throughout the 2017 campaign year. Steve is the president and chief executive of Walnut Equity Partners, LLC, and Sue is a former reporter and anchor for WOWT-TV in Omaha. During the campaign, they led the campaign cabinet, a group of engaged community volunteers. Their efforts made a tremendous impact on our community and the lives of our most vulnerable neighbors.

2017 Tocqueville Chairs

We are grateful to Scott Moore and Danene Tushar for serving as our Tocqueville Chairs throughout the 2017 campaign year. Thanks to their dedication and support, more than 250 Tocqueville donors participated in the campaign.
What’s Next?

With more than 100,000 people living in poverty in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro, United Way of the Midlands’ mission to impact poverty in our community remains as vital as ever. To help our most vulnerable neighbors achieve their full potential, we will continue to invest donor dollars into the metro’s most effective basic needs, education and financial stability programs.

Because we are always striving to maximize our impact in the community, we are incorporating a number of best practices into our investment process over the next two-year funding cycle. One such practice, the implementation of the Results Based Accountability framework, will help us collect more detailed data around program outcomes. We will be able to evaluate the quality of our impact as well as the quantity, giving us better insight into the effectiveness of our investment portfolio.

As we move forward, we are also prioritizing partnerships with programs that utilize a two-generational approach. These programs will put whole families on the path to stability and economic security by providing support for children and their parents to make progress together.

Finally, we are putting an even larger focus on community partnerships between nonprofit agencies, as well as on partnerships around our 2-1-1 Helpline, the metro area “Campaign for Grade-Level Reading” and our Opportunity Youth initiative. Turn to page 10 to learn more about our partnerships.

As we work with our partners to make an impact and drive efficiencies, we will continue to hold ourselves accountable as well. Last year, we were proud to have our efficiency recognized nationally – we were ranked 10th for campaign performance and 17th for financial and operational efficiency out of approximately 1,200 United Ways. This year, we’ll continue to emphasize efficiency by investing more than 91 cents out of every donated dollar directly into our community.

So, as you can see, the year ahead is a hopeful one! As more and more people combine their efforts with United Way and invest in our community, we will continue to make progress toward our goals and change thousands of lives for the better right here in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro.

Raising the funds to invest back into the Omaha-Council Bluffs metro is also an impressive community effort. Our current campaign season is off to a great start.

Efficiency Ratio:

90.8 cents of every donor dollar invested into the community.*

*Calculated overhead rate, per generally accepted accounting principles is 10.4%. The difference between this and the 91 cents of donor dollars going to the community relates to nonprofit accounting requirements to include such things as in-kind gifts in both revenue and expense. Neither of these adds to or detracts from community investment, and when they cancel each other out from the calculation, the 91 cents reflects the true donor impact.

United Way of the Midlands’ audited financial statements and Form 990 will be available at UnitedWayMidlands.org/Financials once filed.

Corporate Campaign Recognition Awards

Approximately 700 organizations generously dedicated their time and financial support to United Way of the Midlands during the 2017 campaign, empowering us to create lasting change within the community. To celebrate their efforts, we decided to add a recognition component to our 2018 Annual Meeting.

While we wish we could recognize the contributions of every partner, we plan to present awards to those companies who have gone above and beyond to support UWM. We believe the following awards will capture the unique and varied nature of our partnerships: Volunteer Organization of the Year, New Business Partner of the Year and Corporate Partners of the Year. Because we know small organizations can still make a big impact, the Corporate Partner of the Year award will be presented to companies within four different employee size categories.

“Giving From the Heart” Award

About the Award
“No matter what you have to give, give from the heart or from the soul.” – Suzanne Scott

In her special way, Sue provided leadership for many other women who aspire to make a positive impact on our neighbors’ lives and on the community we call home. It is for this reason we have created an award in her name, the United Way of the Midlands’ Suzanne Scott “Giving from the Heart” Award.

This honor is presented to a woman in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metropolitan area who demonstrates the thoughtful and philanthropic qualities evident in the late Suzanne Scott. The criteria used to select a recipient includes these three things:

Care: Represents Sue’s ability to identify a need and put her whole heart into helping to find a solution.

Inspire: Comes from Sue’s ability to motivate others to give back to our community.

Act: This is something Sue demonstrated countless times in her life. It came from her never-ending commitment to United Way and her community through volunteering her time, sharing her talent, and generously donating her resources to get things done.

The United Way of the Midlands Women’s Tocqueville Initiative presented the 2018 Suzanne Scott “Giving from the Heart” Award to Diane (Diny) Nolan Landen on Thursday, September 6 during their bi-annual luncheon graciously hosted by Cindy Bay at her home.

The Suzanne Scott “Giving from the Heart” Award was created to honor Suzanne Scott. Every two years, the award is presented to a woman in the Omaha-Council Bluffs metropolitan area who demonstrates the thoughtful and philanthropic qualities evident in Scott – her drive to care, inspire and act.

Landen grew up in El Dorado, Arkansas. After graduating from Southern Methodist University (SMU) with a Bachelor’s degree in Political Science and Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees in Business Administration, Landen moved to Omaha with her husband, Jim. She founded KKCD radio station and served as the co-owner of a publishing company and local magazine in Omaha. She is currently active in board and management roles in companies involved in radio broadcasting and natural resources.

David J. Moline
Established in 1989, the Bridgebuilders Society recognizes individuals and families making annual gifts of $1,000 to $9,999. Such gifts represent a new level of community participation and involvement which helps bridge the gap between the increasing needs in our community and the services available to meet them. There are more than 2,900 local Bridgebuilders strengthening the local community through their support of United Way of the Midlands.
